

Fairies' Hole in Chassepierre

Attribution : (La Boussole Magique)

Useful information

Category : Discovery and recreation

Rating : No rating

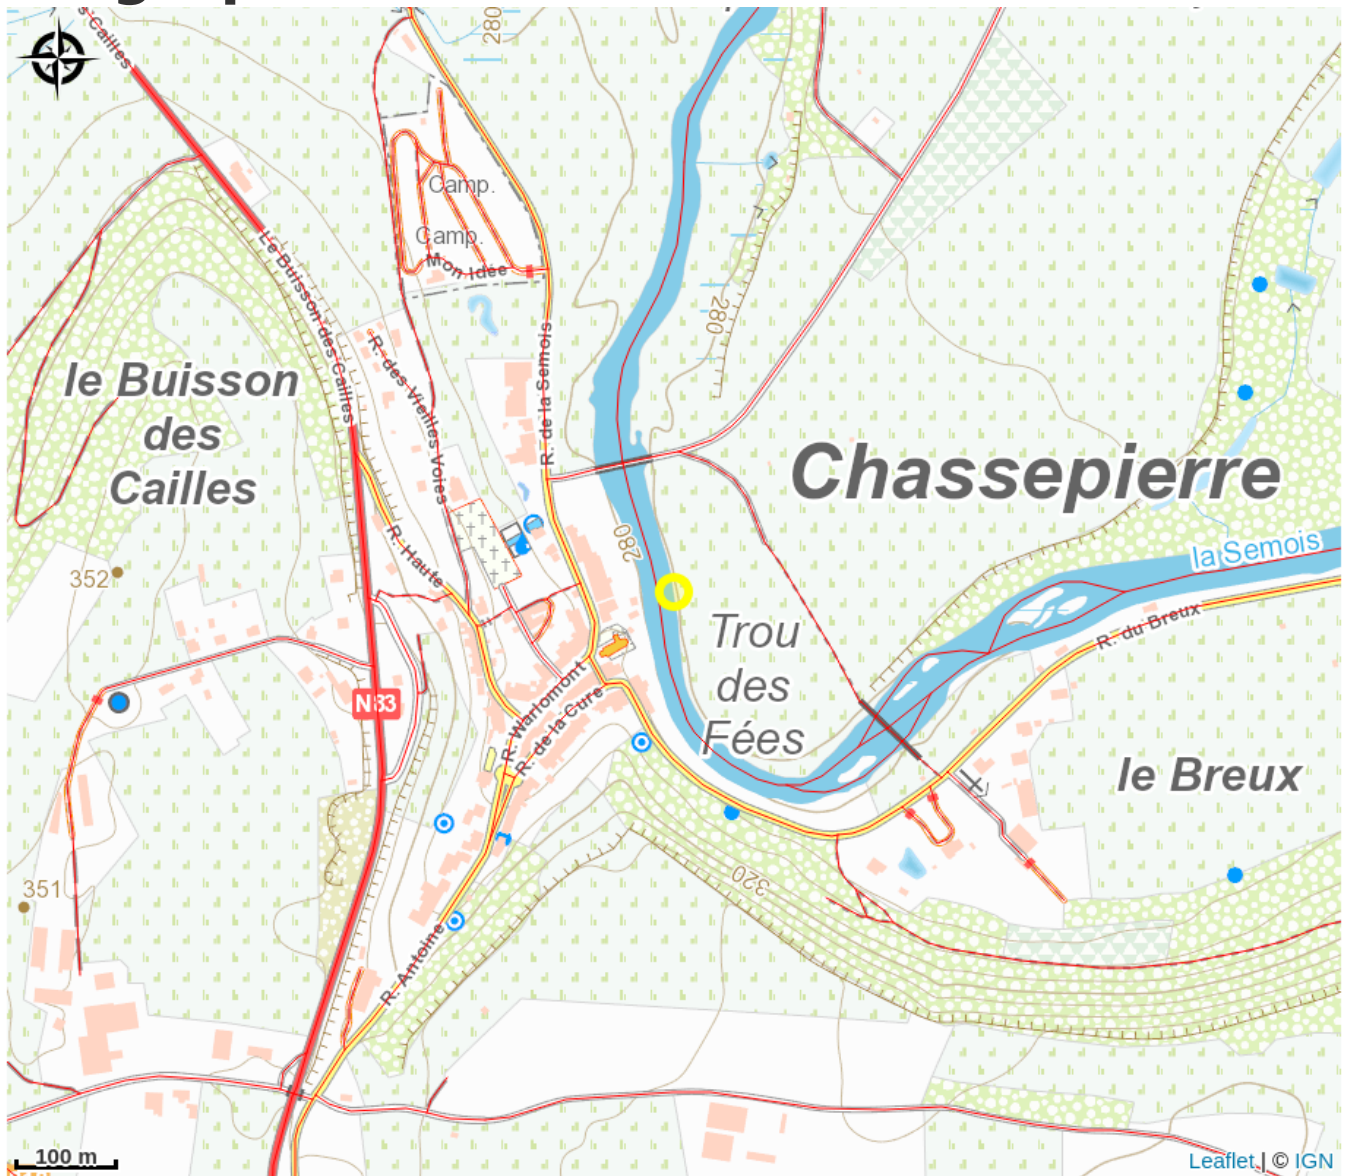

Description

The Fairies' Hole, an exceptional testament to the geological times of the tertiary period, is a network of underground tunnels hollowed out in the limestone by man. They extend under the foundations of the old mill and join the presbytery where they merge with the cellars. The name "Fairies' Hole" relates to a legend that says fairies used to live in this magical place. A rare geological site when you know that many houses in the village are built on the limestone.

Discovery categories

Folklore and tradition, Stories and legends, Natural heritage.

Geographical location

All useful information

Contact

6824 - Chassepierre

