

Bridge of Cordemoy or pont de la poulie

Attribution : (FTLB - P. Willems)

Useful information

Category : Discovery and recreation

Rating : No rating

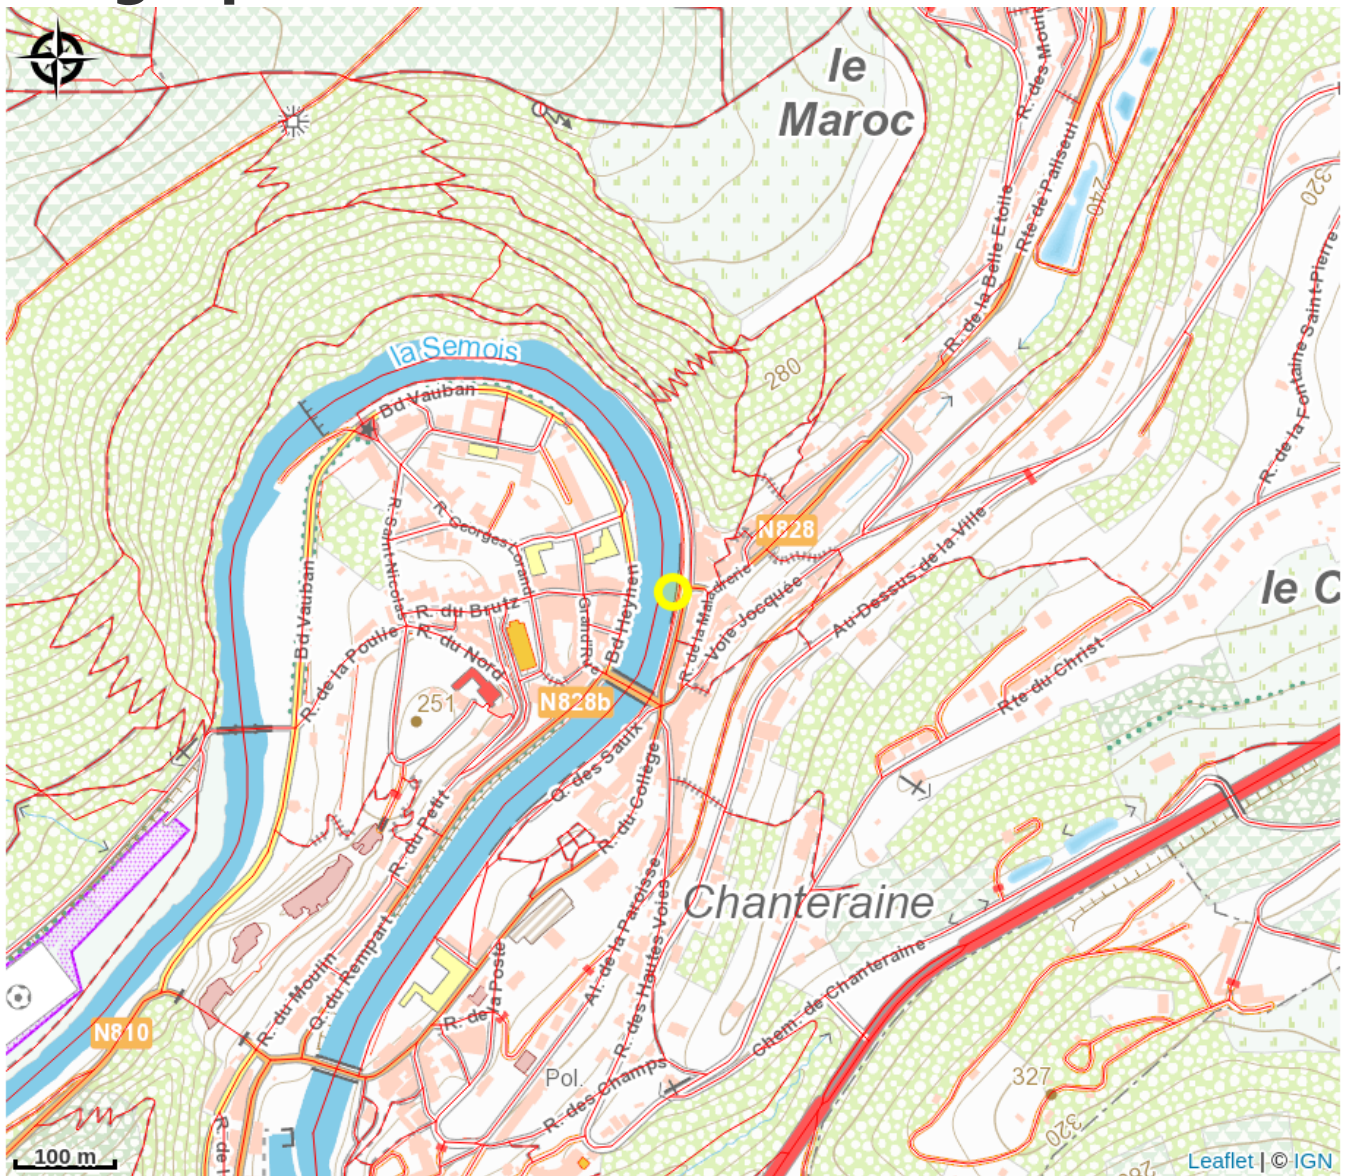

Description

This nice gothic-styled building dates back to 1935, joins the Cordemoy abbey, also called Cistercian abbey of Clairefontaine. It is representative of the gothic style thanks to its characteristical broken-arched-diagonal ribs (vaults).

Discovery categories

Built heritage, Industrial site/building, bridge, engineering structure.

Geographical location

All useful information

Contact

vers Cordemoy, 6830 - Bouillon