Description

A wonderful viewpoint over the Semois, next to a huge rock, that you can reach on a lovely walk in the wild and peaceful forest... part of which takes you along the river. On its route from the Ardennes, the Gaume section of the Semois, downriver from Chiny and Florenville, cuts a path into the mountain range before turning at the Roussel forge, then again by Roche Lénel and finally in the gorge of Roche Brûlée and Roche Perette. This is all to the south of the Les Épioux estate which it leaves to move towards the incredible Roche de la Bohanan.
